About This Game

In Your Face TD is a Tower Defense, which utilises room scale VR to give a new dimension to a classic genre.

You find yourself on a lonely space station, with only the mining drones to keep you company. Luckily the drones are hard workers, and they will gather resources so you can build defenses against invading creatures from another dimension.

These creatures are vicious, but they aren't the brightest. They have one goal in mind, and that is destroying your base. Smart as you are, you build a maze and lure the stupid creatures around and through your defences, before they can reach the base.

Knowing that space stations are regularly attacked by waves of evil, you've also brought your laser guns, bombs and even sawblade frisbees.

Features include:

- Take advantage of the level design to build an optimal maze of towers and lure the enemies around your defences.
- Take on the enemies face-to-face with three different weapons: Shotgun, laser minigun and sawblade frisbee.
- Throw bombs at the enemies from the top of your towers.
- Unlock upgrades based on your performance. Upgrades include chain-lightning, exploding sawblade frisbees, flying robot bombs and more.

- Maximize your income by building mining drones.
  - Master the game on four difficulties ranging from Easy to Insane.

in your face td. in your face td vr

I would love to see more like this.
The controls are nice, height is good. Very well made experience.

Enjoyed this free game more already than some other games i have for VR i payed for.
Based on the quality it provides i would say it is worth 5 bucks compared to other games.

The game it self is a tower defense game. Between rounds you can build different defense buildings or upgrade mning speed for coins to have more the next round.

When you are in the level select level you have the chance to upgrade your gear (weapons + buildings) from not available to extra functionality of the gear.

. This is the best free vr game. What a great little game! And its free!

So what is this game? Well, its of course a tower defence game.

So what makes this different than all of the other out there for VR? Well..

Its a tower defence game at it heart, but like many oither VR TD games, you are in first person the whole time, Not just when using abilities. But you don't have to constantly be in first person mode shooting everything else yourself. You are not the main weapon (unless you want to be) which is refreshing. Too many TD games i have tried in VR focus too much on you being the main tower. This games gives you the option,

The method of giving you the option is that you can level up your towers back at homebase, OR you can level up your weapons, Or you can balance it and go for both.

The only negative i can see in this games so far (i have completed 2 of 4 maps so far) is that its a bit too easy. I'm a big TD fan, and found the highest difficulty (insane?) to be what i would class as "normal" difficulty in most other games.

But this does open the game up to newbies to the TD genre, and Newbies to VR also. So it kinda hits the mark for everyone.

It looks like the dev has left room to add new maps (which i would be happy to pay a small price for), and there appears to be a tower that is due to be released in the future (unless i simply have not unlocked it yet).

What i would like to see is even harder difficulty levels. And it would be cool if the buzz saw frisbees sliced through multiple targets, and maybe even returned like a boomerang.

All in all, its free! and its a damned fine game for what it is. I'm going to be keeping an eye on this dev, and can see myself coming back to this game over and over for my TD fix in VR.

You should too!. What a great little game! And its free!

You should too!. Steam Nomination Update: Strategy and Action at it's finest. This is one of my favorite games. It's a VR only title, has good controls, FPS action, maze design, resource management, and nice mechanisms for loading up a new board. So much fun to be had in such a small package. Can someone throw a lot of money at these devs, so we can get a bigger game? :-)

Old Review:

I loved this game the entire time I played. It reminds me a lot of Sanctum, but in VR. Obviously, a little less polished and nowhere near the amount of progression + levels. I'm sad to learn that the devs dropped it, but I'm extremely glad they released it as free, so I could enjoy this wonderful little gem. ++ I Like the Robots much more than the skeletons. I would definitely have bought this game. Even, if all they'd done was add a few more levels. xD. God visuals and good gameplay. Good replay value. One of the bertter titles i have. I cried of excitement when I saw this game and bought it instantly! I completed the entire game(levels that is, not every unlock) and then played another round before I had to quit since it was 20:00 and I had to eat :p

It's quite similar to Sanctum. This game has so much potential! More tower types, enemy types, guns and level is probably on the horizon and I'm really excited for it!. I really hope you guys are using this as a testbed for a kick*** version of the same type of game. Top notch, in a simple shell. Well done.

Wow this game really is great in VR!

Things I liked:

- Enemies have ragdoll.
- Game has great physics.
- You can stand on your turrets.
- You can create more workers to make money faster.
- Ride in a space ship.
- Upgrading weapons.
- Guns are effective, responsive, and unique.

I had a lot of fun with this one! It has some nice mechanics! Cant wait to see whats added!. I love tower defence games, and this is one of my favorites. I like being able to grab a gun and help my defences. I like the unique guns and towers.

I don't like that the game isn't finished yet. I'm hoping they add an endless mode where the waves get tougher and tougher until you fail. I'd also like to see a leader board that kept track of my top scores for each map. Of course we need to see more maps as well. Right now there are only 4. I'd like to be able to reset the game so others can play it from the start without the benifit of already won upgrades.. This is one of my favourite VR games. It's a shame that I don't think I would have purchased it when it was for sale because it's store page doesn't make it look enticing, but it's free now so I gave it a go and have now beaten all levels on maximum difficulty. It's a lot of fun and I highly recommend you give it a go!. I planned to buy this game on steam sale, but it went to free. I would say this is the kind of game I really waited for the time I bought the vive. I am really sorry about the sales of this game. If I would known that, I really had bought this game earlier to support at least a bit the development.. Favorite tower defense style. I hate pre assigned positions for the towers. Let me build my own maze!

Not a lot of content at the moment but has definite promise with the way it's going. I like the upgrade system.. When you think of a free to play game (especially a VR one), you typically assume short, and mediocre at best. I personally love TDs and I am a harsh critic of them. This one is gold. Add that it is free and will last you at least a few hours of gameplay to get perfects on insane, and you have a real gem!

This game reminds me very strongly of Sanctum TD, but you actually get to be IN THE GAME. It is awesome. If you even remotely like TDs or Strategic FPSs then you need to try this game, IT IS FREE after all.

TL;DR — Game is free. Shouldn't be. Download it.. A great free TD for VR with great mechanics that keep it interesting during the waves being able to shoot enemies yourself.. This game is fun whereas most other VR games so far may be interesting, but not actually very fun... at least in my experience.

I played through all 3 levels on normal right away. I will prob wait for updates before playing more but this was FUN!. It's a simple tower defense game but it's fun. VR adds a lot of enjoyment to the formula by allowing you to shoot, slice with razor discs, and blow up your enemies with bombs you've thrown. The turret variety isn't very special, and most weapons aren't that interesting* but it's absolutely worth the few hours you'll probably spend with it.

*the razor disc weapon is really fun. Throwing things in VR just makes any game more fun.
